

Q.1 Read the Passage given bellow and answer the question that fellow: -

The word cent comes from a Latin word that means “ one hundred”, so you might think that the many-legged creature called the centipede has hundred legs. But it’s only a rare centipede that has exactly hundred lets. All centipedes have one pair of legs for each body segment; so if a centipede has twenty body segments, it will have forty legs. Most centipedes have either thirty or forty two legs, but a few also have more than a hundred and sixty.

a. This passage tells us about

- (i) the importance of centipedes and millipedes.
- (ii) the food habits of centipedes and millipedes.
- (iii) the number of legs centipedes and millipedes have.
- (iv) the different types of centipedes and millipedes.

b. if a centipede has 25 body segments, it will have

- (i) forty two legs.
